THE JAMES BARNES AND MARGARET M. HUDSON FAMILY RECORD

With the assistance of Lloyd W. Barnes and from information gathered from clippings in scrap books made by Neva Wilson Barnes, over a number of years and information from most of the other Barnes relatives, Bibles, letters, etc. I will try to put together as much of The Barnes Family History as I can.

The records will not be complete, by any means, may even bear corrections, especially as pertaining to dates, etc. I will leave blank pages and you can add to it, by writing or clippings, as time goes by.

It was through Boyd Rasmus, Vera Barnes Roberson's son, that I became interested in the History.

One day when he and his wife, Andrea and son, David were visiting in our home from Chicago, he asked me if I had seen any records of the Barnes Family here.

I had not seen any records or thought about anything like that, so then I started looking thru the Family Bibles and scrapbooks with Lloyd telling me many things.

I will start with the grandparents of Lloyd, Roy, Glenn, Vern, Rex and their cousins. That is about the only way I can keep the names straight in my mind.

James Barnes, grandfather, born, April 6, 1827, died August 30, 1907. Grandmother Barnes' maiden name was Margaret M. Hudson. She was born May 8, 1828 and died March 11, 1891. They were married March 25, 1846 in Delaware County, Iowa. They were the parents of nine children and all were born in Delaware County, Iowa. Grandfather and Grandmother Barnes were buried in Marcus-Amherst Cemetery.

The following was taken from Ede Wixcel's letter.

"I have heard my Dad, Frank S. Barnes, tell that when Grandpa Barnes was a small boy, he and his brother John were "bound out". I would say, "adopted," but Webster's Dictionary says, "To be taken care of, to work for Bondage, as in Slavery," They were there until 18 years of age.

James Barnes and his brother John were given to different parents and never knew where the other one lived, until after Aunt Alice was married and her daughter, Mayme, was a baby and Grandfather Barnes and Aunt Alice went to Arkansas by train, as there were no automobiles in those days.

John Barnes met them and took them to their farm in a wagon. I do not know if James' and John's parents were living when the two boys were "bound out."

John Barnes went to Civil War and James Barnes and Margaret M. Hudson were married March 25, 1846, and went to live at Turkey Timber, Iowa, on a farm.

They farmed in the vicinity of Buck Creek in Delaware County. All of their children, except J. William Barnes moved to Marcus, Iowa.

The six sons and only daughter, Alice Barnes, lived in and around Marcus, Iowa. Grandfather Barnes built the house, in which Fred and Alice Barnes Paine lived.

The grandparents lived there, until grandmother's death, March 11, 1891. Then grandfather Barnes lived with his daughter Alice Barnes Thompson until his death. He visited his son Edward Faris Barnes and family near Granville, North Dakota. Mary D. Barnes and Lloyd Barnes said,

"He was such a neat and clean man, always wore white shirts and he chewed tobacco, but was spotlessly clean.

Grandfather and Grandmother Barnes children's names were:

1. R.C. Barnes-born December 17, 1846--died January 8, 1846.
2. Francis Sylvester Barnes-born July 14, 1848--died June 10, 1929.
3. J. William Barnes-born May 30, 1850--died January 17, 1886.
4. Edward Faris Barnes-born July 1, 1852--died July 13, 1933.
5. Alice F. Barnes-born February 22, 1856--died November 21, 1948.
6. J. Oscar Barnes--born January 30, 1859-died April 26, 1928.
7. Byron Arthur Barnes-born December 5, 1860--died September 1, 1902.

2. Francis Sylvester Barnes, 2nd. son of James Barnes and Margaret M. Hudson Barnes, Born July 14, 1848 and died June 10, 1929. Francis S. Barnes, (Frank) and Sarah Edith Everhart were married December 28, 1871. Sarah Edith Everhart was born 1850 and died December 27, 1928. Her birthplace was Youngstown, Pennsylvania. Her parents were H. B. and Caroline Everhart. They later moved to Delaware County, Iowa in a covered wagon. After finishing country school, Sarah and Frank went to Lemox College and later taught school.

Three Children were born to this union: Alice Gertrude, Frances Edith, and Floyd S. Barnes.

Frank S. Barnes started the telephone business in Marcus in 1901. He sold half interest to his brother, J. Oscar Barnes in 1908. Fred E. Paine, Frank's son-in-law, was the local manager from 1902-1920. In 1911 a half interest was sold by Frank S. Barnes to C.W. Cisne. They operated the plant until they sold to H. J. Reimers in 1917. In 1926 the Exchange was sold to West Iowa Telephone Company.

In June, 1928, plans were drawn for an entire new Exchange Building, equipment, and underground system. Up to this time the Marcus exchange had been operated on what is known as the grounded system using a single wire and the ground for the return wire. The underground cable system was designed so that every family could be accommodated with a private line wire connection. This called for the installation of 6000 feet of conduit, 21,200 feet of trench for cable having a capacity of 595 miles of single wire with 3,141,000 feet of copper wire and 14 miles of drop wire running from the cable terminals to the telephone, also for 700 feet of cable from Marcus into Amherst Township to accommodate farm lines. The new system daily employed four operators and a local manager. Long distance could now be given to any part of the U.S.A. (1928.) Of 525 independent telephone exchanges in the state of Iowa, Marcus is one of 32 to have the "Automatic Common Battery." There are many county seat towns in Iowa, and others much larger than Marcus, who are yet without this modern equipment.

Frank S. Barnes also started the Marcus Water Works and gas plant and was about the first to start everything. He and Charles Bess were the first two to have telephones in Marcus. No operator, just a connection between Frank's home and Charles Bass's house. (The above was taken from a Marcus Telephone Anniversary Book.)

"No man ever did more to build up Marcus. He had a desire to help. He loved the church and gave dollar for dollar to build and carry on the work of the Marcus Church of Christ."

Marcus

The above is not really family history, but is interesting, because it was written about Frank S. Barnes and also gives some Marcus history.

After moving to Marcus, he was cashier of Citizens Bank in 1900. After being manager of The Telephone Company for 15 years, he was employed as bookkeeper for the Marcus Lumber Company.

No. 4

Edward Faris Barnes, 4th. son of James and Margaret M. Hudson Barnes (Lloyd W. Barnes' father) was born July 1, 1852 at Uniontown, Iowa. He died July 13, 1933, in the home of his son and wife, Glenn and Mary D. Barnes in Marcus, Iowa, at the age of 81 years and 12 days. He spent his early youth at Uniontown, Iowa, and moved to a farm northwest of Marcus in 1878. He was married to Belle Vira Mc Ginnis at Hopkinton, Iowa on February 2, 1881. His wife, Belle Vira Mc Ginnis, was born December 14, 1862. She died June 9, 1916.

Edward Faris Barnes and Belle Vira Barnes were buried in Saline Township Cemetery, near Granville, North Dakota. After their marriage they established their home on a farm near Marcus and resided there for many years. In 1900 the family moved to Larchwood, Lyon County, Iowa, where Edward F. Barnes was established in the implement business with his brother-in-law, Wm. H. Barkus, for two years. Then the two families moved to Granville, North Dakota, and took claims. (Mrs. Edward F. Barnes and Mrs. Wm. H. Barkus were sisters.)

Mrs. Edward F. Barnes died June 9, 1916. Edward F. Barnes was County Treasurer of Mc Henry County at Towner, North Dakota, for four years-1921-1924. During this time he made his home with his son Glenn and his family. In the fall of 1924 Edward F. Barnes moved back to Marcus and made his home with his sons. In later years he lived with his son Glenn and his wife Mary D. Barnes.

- No.4-5 Rex Martin

No.4-1 Lloyd Wm. Barnes, first son of Edward Faris Barnes and Belle Vira Mc Ginnis Barnes, was born December 27, 1881 on a farm five miles northwest of Marcus. The house in which he was born is still being lived in-January 1963. An addition was added after his birth. His father bought that farm when he moved to Marcus in 1878, from Delaware County, Iowa. He paid $10.00 an acre for the farm and had to have the buildings built on it. Lloyd's uncles, Frank S., J. Oscar, and Byron, and his aunt, Alice Barnes and her husband Isaiah Thompson owned the land adjoining his father, Edward's land. They all bought the prairie land at the same time. Lloyd's parents moved into Marcus, about 1890 and lived for four years in the house Rev. and Mrs. Plummer live in now, (February-1963.) at 300 No. Maple Street, except for the first few months after they moved to town. They moved back to the farm and in 1900 Edward sold his farm to his brother, Frank S. Barnes, for $45.00 per acre. The taxes were low, but the interest was high. This same land later sold for $400.00 per acre, gradually dropped to $100.00 per acre and in 1962 probably would sell for around $400.00 per acre.

No.4-1 Lloyd W. moved to Larchwood, Lyon County, Iowa, with his parents and four brothers in 1900. He attended Larchwood Public School and he and his brother Roy, farmed the 320 acres of Land $\frac{1}{2}$ mile north of Larchwood. In 1902, the family moved to Granville, North Dakota, where they farmed.

Lloyd W. Barnes and Neva Grafe Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Wilson, were married March 18, 1908 in the home of her parents on their farm near Marcus. After their marriage they went to Granville, North Dakota, where they lived on a farm, but returned to Marcus in 1910 and resided on the Wilson farm for 35 years, then in 1944 they moved into Marcus and bought a house on Cedar Street. They later sold this house and moved into the home of Grandma Wilson, to take care of her, until her death. That house is now owned by E.V. Delaney, February, 1963. It is at 306 No. Oak Street, across West from the old high school building.

Neva and Lloyd built a home, 605 E. Pine Street in Marcus, in 1951. They moved into the house in February, 1952 before Neva's death October 8, 1952. Neva Grace Barnes, born October 18, 1884, in Plymouth County, was buried in Marcus-Amherst Cemetery. They were the parents of four children:

0.4-1-2

Vera Mae Barnes, second child of Lloyd W. and Neva Wilson Barnes, was born February 13, 1915, in the home of her parents on the farm southwest of Marcus, Iowa.

Vera graduated from Marcus High School in the Class of 1932. She attended Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls, Iowa, after which she taught two years in Rural districts and later she was engaged in practice teaching in Cherokee, Iowa, Public Schools, until her marriage.

Vera loved animals, especially horses and dogs. She was an accomplished horse woman and did considerable jumping with one of her horses. When a young girl she was thrown from the horses a couple of times, but not injured badly. But one Sunday in 1931, when she was 16 years old, she was riding along the road near the home of Glenn Barnes and another pony, ridden by Lawrence French, crossed the road ahead of her, crowding her horse, causing it to jump it. Vera was thrown to the ground and knocked unconscious and remained so, for 12 days. In the accident she received a severe bruise on her arm and head. These, plus a cratch on her hip were the only evident injuries. The shock and slight concussion of the head was blamed by the doctor to be the cause of her unconsciousness. The pony she was riding was one she had owned for several years and was of gentle disposition. Previous to this accident she had attended a polo game on Glenn Barnes farm, where The Barnes Brothers Polo Team was playing.

Vera Mae Barnes and Dale Rasmus were married December 3, 1935 in Excelsior, Missouri, where Dale was engaged in business. Vera's parents of Marcus and Dale's parents of Cherokee, Iowa, attended the wedding. (Marcus News)

In July, 1936, they moved to Cherokee, Iowa, where they lived until 1942, when they moved to San Pedro, California where Dale worked in the shipyards. They moved back to Cherokee in 1944. Vera Rasmus was divorced from Dale Rasmus in 1952.

She then worked on dry cleaning delivery in Cherokee to help support the family. On February 1, 1953, Vera married James Joseph Roberson son of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Roberson, Sr. Jim worked in the printing business as a make up man for large advertisements at the Cherokee Daily Times. He had served in World War II as an aerial gunner in the Navy, flying 29 Combat Missions and receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross and 4 Air Medals, Jim died July 28, 1954 at Cherokee, Iowa. The following was taken from the Des Moines (Iowa) Register.

The Barnes' Brothers Polo Team, made up of Northwest Iowa farmers consisted of Lloyd W., Roy, Glenn, Vern, Rex, and Vern's son Chester.

These men previously lived in North Dakota where they helped rid the country of coyotes and jack rabbits by chasing them down on horseback. The family of middle-aged farmers, combining work with pleasure, started the Barnes' Brothers Polo Team and subsequently popularized the game of polo. They are all hard and skillful riders who get enjoyment out of polo. Vern Barnes was the member of the team most responsible for popularizing the game of polo in the Northwest Iowa community of Marcus.

Vern says, "We buy our own ponies around here and keep our own ponies on our farms and do our training, etc. At first we got along with one pony each, but before too long, we owned 2 or 3 ponies each. The ponies play a leading part in the game. They actually get the spirit of competition in their veins as much as the players."

They seldom change men during the game, but do change ponies every chukker.

The Barnes Brothers Polo Team were the champions of northwest Iowa for 3 or 4 years. They played teams from Omaha, Nebraska; Pierre, South Dakota; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Army teams at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa and others. When they stopped playing the youngest man on the team was 36 years old and the oldest was 51 years old (Lloyd Barnes.) (Chester Barnes)

This completes the history of Edward Faris Barnes and family from July, 1852 to July, 1963.

No.5 Alice F. Barnes, only daughter and 5th. child, of James Barnes and Margaret M. Hudson Barnes, was born February 22, 1856 in Delaware County, Iowa. Alice died November 21, 1948 in Marcus, Iowa. She was born in a log cabin on a farm near Hopkinton, Iowa. Alice Barnes and Isaiah C. Thompson were married December 14, 1876. Isaiah C. Thompson died October 26, 1923. Both were buried in Marcus-Amherst Cemetery.

Alice came to Marcus, in 1878, with her husband Isaiah C. Thompson and daughter Mayme and Alice's brothers, Frank S., Edward Faris, and J. Oscar Barnes. At almost every turn the Thompsons had troubles. The deer ate their garden, and disease took all 78 head of calves, a span of horses and a number of hogs. The closest town north was Orange City, Iowa, and visitors were a rare sight indeed. But as usual, an event occurred that broke the jinx.

Upon hearing of his daughter Alice and her husband Isaiah's bad luck, her father James Barnes sent Mrs. Thompson a pig.

Although she was offered $4.00 for the animal, Alice refused to sell, believing it was sort of a good luck symbol. She was dead right. The pig had a litter of 9 pigs. (Taken from Marcus News)

Alice was a resident of Marcus for 70 years. She was 92 years, 9 months of age when she passed away November 21, 1948. They had two daughters, Margaret M. Thompson (Mayme) and Alice Armintia (Minerva) Thompson. The day Alice Thompson was 90 years old in 1946, she was happily surprised to receive a telephone call from her only granddaughter Mrs. Clyde V. Mc Broom of Washington, D. C. In Des Plaines, Illinois, she was chosen as Worthy High Priestess of the Aramathia White Shrine of Jerusalem. This completes the history of Walter Cassius Barnes and family from September 1870 to July, 1963.

This completes the history of the six generations of the Barnes families to July 1963. I started this in October, 1962 and I have been gradually adding to it, as I received information from some member of the families. I know it is far from complete, but I have received information from one member of each family in the third and fourth generations. Writing about 30 letters and sending a copy of the information I had to each one for correction and additions, I received 2 or 3 letters from some with additional information.

I want to thank all of you for your cooperation and prompt responses. Thanks to Lloyd for his help as this being the only way I could keep the relationship straight. Thanks to Madge Drefke for proof reading and Nancy Drefke (Mrs. Max) for typing it for me. Also, thanks to everyone for their suggestions, information and help in any way. If there are any mistakes in dates, names, etc., I hope you will correct them and forgive me.

I also hope you will all enjoy this history or manuscript as much as I have enjoyed compiling it.

Sincerely,

Emeline C. Barnes

Numbers preceding names are set to clarify the generations of each member in the Barnes Family Tree. This index will allow each member now and in generations to come, a comprehensible reasoning of who is in which branch of the James Barnes Family Tree. Illustration: Mark Pitts, the last one listed can see he belongs to number 9 in his family number, which he can find above him to be Walter Cassius Barnes, his great grandfather allowing James Barnes to be remembered as his great great grandfather. Mark also can see that he, like his father Kenneth and his grandmother Blanche Barnes Pitts, were the 3rd. born in each of their generations. Each family is indexed together to follow the style used by the compiler, Emeline C. Barnes. The publisher, Helen Crocker Ehmcke, has indexed this History as a personal contribution in respect to the Barnes Family and Crocker Family connections with the Mc Ginnis Family, from whom No.4 Belle Vira, Lloyd Barnes (No.1) Mother was a sister to Oscar J. Mc Ginnis, first husband of Nellie Crocker, my grandfather's sister.
